Volunteers - Induction and Training Policy

1. Introduction

Healthwatch West Berkshire (HWWB) is committed to the induction, training and development of our volunteers. Ensuring that volunteers have the correct training for their particular role is essential for the success of our volunteer programme.

We aim to provide new volunteers, or one facing a new task, with the information required to ensure that they are able to maximise their contribution to HWWB. This will be done via appropriate induction training followed by regular support. All volunteers will have the opportunity to participate in ongoing training and will be briefed on developments relating to their role.

2. Induction

Inductions are an important opportunity to introduce volunteers to HWWB, communicate relevant policies and procedures and set out both what is expected of them and what they can expect in their new role.

HWWB offers an induction and training programme for all volunteers. Induction is usually delivered in a group setting as these encourage wide-ranging discussions and can also enable volunteers to start to build relationships and support systems.

Individual induction may also be arranged where required for example to fit in better with the volunteer's other commitments and where there is a need for the training to be adapted for volunteers who require particular support.

2.1 The Induction Training Programme

This will include an introduction to:

- HWWB- overview of the organisation structure and management; current work plan, and different volunteer roles

- overview of HWWB Policies and Procedures and issue of the volunteer policy handbook
- the health and social care structure in West Berkshire
- on-going training - volunteers may also be required to participate in safeguarding and deprivation of liberties (DOLS) training if they are going to conduct Enter and View (visits to health and social care services) and/or gather the views of local people

3. Identification of volunteer training needs

- specific HWWB projects may determine training needs for example enter and view in sensitive environments
- volunteers are often in the best position to put forward suggestions for training courses to the volunteer trainers.

4. Ongoing Volunteer Training and Development

HWWB will provide other training courses as required, specific to particular roles and organisational needs, such as:

- influencing and negotiating
- presentation skills
- media training
- engagement with particular communities

Any training requirements will be subject to discussion with Jo Karasinski, the volunteer lead. All authorised training will be arranged through the HWWB staff team, wherever possible in-house training will be provided.

5. Equal Opportunities Consideration

HWWB will:

- strive to prioritise training opportunities for volunteers who have traditionally missed out on such opportunities.

- seek to facilitate attendance at conferences and training events by volunteers with children or other dependents. This will be achieved by approving expense claims for childcare, crèche provision, and carers and in other ways as necessary.
- continue to promote training that furthers equality of opportunity or helps individuals and voluntary groups challenge oppression and oppressive behaviour.

6. If you are unable to attend a training session

HWWB incurs costs in delivering volunteer training e.g. room hire and refreshments. If you cannot attend training that you have agreed to attend please let us know as soon as possible.

7. Training Timetable

Training is open to all volunteers but Authorised Representatives need to attend the training, which is marked 🌸
